

PLANS ARE APPROVED FOR COLORED HOSPITAL

Will Be Most Up-to-Date Institution Exclusively for Negro Race in the United States.

EXPECT TO OPEN ON APRIL 1

Will Be Seven Stories in Height, and Will Be Fully Equipped Both for Treatment of Disease and for Instruction in Hygiene.

Frederic B. Morlok, superintendent of Memorial Hospital, yesterday received from the architects, Noland & Baskerville, of Richmond, complete blueprints of the negro hospital, which will be the first building erected of the new group provided for by the funds raised in the campaign early last summer. Plans for the nurses' home have been approved, and that building will probably be begun about the same time as the negro hospital. Work will start about October 1, and the buildings are expected to be ready for occupancy by April 1. Plans for the James H. Doolittle pavilion for contagious diseases have not yet reached final form. The buildings will be strictly Richmond products. Superintendent Morlok stated yesterday that 50 per cent of the material used in construction would be supplied by local firms. The buildings will be of brick, of simple architecture. Unnecessary ornamentation has been sacrificed to utility and convenience.

The negro hospital will be located on ground now covered by 1215-1221 East Marshall Street. The nurses' home will be on East Broad Street, just west of Monumental Episcopal Church. The work of clearing the lots will begin immediately. Contracts for the construction of the buildings have not yet been let.

Every modern appliance known to hospital builders will be installed. The negro hospital will cost approximately $100,000, with an additional $25,000 for equipment. Instead of the six stories originally planned there will be seven. There will be 145 beds.

MOST UP-TO-DATE HOSPITAL FOR NEGROES IN AMERICA

"It will be the most up-to-date negro hospital in the United States," declared Superintendent Morlok yesterday. "It will be practically the only private hospital devoted exclusively to negro patients, and the only one having a training school for negro nurses."

Perhaps the most unique feature of the negro hospital's service to Richmond is the opportunity it offers white people to have their servants inspected. At stated times each week negro servants may come and submit to physical examination. By this means it is hoped to prevent many infected nurses, cooks, maids and chauffeurs from spreading disease among the white people by whom they are employed. So far as is known, no other hospital in the world offers such an opportunity to the people of the city in which it is located. The idea is original with the management of Memorial Hospital.

Emphasizing the social service feature of the negro hospital, those in charge plan to give instruction to the colored population in hygiene. Prevention of disease will be more stressed than curing it.

Negro nurses will care for the patients under the supervision of white leaders. Negro girls in the training school will be instructed by white teachers. Post-graduate courses will be offered the negro nurses. The physicians will be the regular members of the Memorial Hospital staff.

ARRANGEMENT OF ROOMS IN NEW INSTITUTION

The plans accepted provide for the arrangement of rooms as follows: Basement—Gas kitchen, diet kitchen, nurses' dining-room, patients' dining-room, rooms for maids and porters, housekeeper's office, linen room, storerooms, fumigating rooms and a refrigerating plant.

First floor—Admitting room, through which every patient will pass; emergency room; open twenty-four hours every day; waiting room; reception room; business office, school of nursing office, superintendent's office, pharmacy and Roentgen ray, pathological and bacteriological laboratories.

Second and third floors (arranged alike)—Two wards of twelve beds on each floor; four single rooms, nurses' utility room, dining-room for convalescents and a pantry connecting with the general kitchen. On the east front of each of the two floors will be sun porches with fire escapes at each end.

Fourth floor—Maternity ward, with twelve beds; nursery, a ward with twelve cribs; two rooms for the isolation of suspected cases.

Fifth floor—For private service. Twelve single rooms, four rooms containing two beds each.
Sixth floor—Equipped like the fifth floor, but except in times of unusual emergency, will be used for the negro training school.
Seventh floor—Operating suite. There will be no amphitheaters. There will be two private operating rooms, two anesthetizing rooms, a central sterilizing room and other rooms for accessories. Two elevators will connect the operating rooms with all wards directly.
The nurses' home will be five stories high. In the basement will be a laundry for the entire plant. On the first floor will be a library and assembly, reception and class rooms. The dining-room will remain as at present in the main building.

Accommodations for 198 nurses will be provided in the new home. There are sixty-three nurses in training here now, and many more applications are received than can be accepted.

WILL RESIST EXTRADITION

Counsel for E. C. Earp, Charged With Embezzlement, Ask Hearing by Governor.

Notice was served upon Governor Stuart yesterday by counsel for E. C. Earp, charged with embezzling $50 from a North Carolina corporation, that he will resist extradition to that State. The man was arrested in Norfolk at the instance of the authorities of Lee County, N. C. The trial of the case was continued until a hearing is held before the Governor.

A requisition for the extradition was received by Governor Stuart yesterday. Counsel for Earp asked for ten days in which to prepare the case, and a hearing will be held in the matter probably next week.

ANNOTATED CODE ISSUED

Brings Work of John Garland Pollard to Date, Including 1916 Legislative Session.

Volume IV, Pollard's Annotated Code of Virginia, bringing the publication down to date, came from the press yesterday. The book contains 1,500 pages, and embraces a digest of all the laws of Virginia, including those enacted by the General Assembly of 1916.

The first volume of this code was brought out by John Garland Pollard in 1914. Since Mr. Pollard's election Attorney-General, the work has been edited by Attorney Louis C. Phillips of the James City County bar.

SENT TO GRAND JURY

DANVILLE, VA., September 16.—With the warrants changed from simple assault to attempted criminal assault, Tim Brooks, aged fourteen years, and Lem Womack, aged twenty-five, both negroes, have been sent on to the grand jury. Yesterday an effort to secure bail for the accused failed.

Judge Peabody refused to accept it. The two young women who are said to have been insulted by the negroes stated that while they were strolling up West Main Street last Sunday the negroes approached them and seized their dresses at the throat. They broke away, and running to a nearby house, gave the alarm. This morning both negroes denied the charge, stating that they brushed by the girls in an attempt to catch a street car.

Wall Paints

Right now is the time to refresh your walls; to retint them and brighten up the room. If your walls are covered with wall paper, remove it and tint them with

Sani-Flat Finish

($2.00 a Gallon). This gives a flat finish that is not affected by steam and water, and will not blister, peel or flake off. It can be washed, and is the most sanitary wall finish made. Ask us more about the finishing of walls.

STATE HOSPITAL FINED FOR VIOLATING STATE LAW

Stanton Institution Is Convicted of Working Female Employees More Than Ten Hours—Others Fined.

Factory Inspector J. B. Chidmister, of the State Department of Labor, reported to Commissioner Doherty yesterday that a fine of $5 and costs has been imposed on the Western State Hospital in Staunton for violating the ten-hour law.

"Employees of the State are entitled to the same protection as employees of firms and individuals," observed Commissioner Doherty yesterday when his attention was called to the fact that the proceeding was like a man spanking himself for failing to observe a self-imposed regulation.

Fines of $5 and costs for violating the ten-hour law were imposed also on the Atlantic 5 and 10-Cent Store and Ault's Cash Grocery; and fines of $25 and costs each for violating the child-labor law were assessed against R. H. Knorr, E. R. Anderson and T. R. Blackburn, all of Staunton. The case against the Model Steam Laundry, charged with violating the ten-hour law, was dismissed.

ESCAPES WITH FINE

Eddie T. Burnette Convicted of Being Drunk and Recklessly Driving an Automobile.

Eddie T. Burnette yesterday was fined $100 and costs by Magistrate H. S. Sunday, of Henrico County, on the charge of being drunk and recklessly driving an automobile. The offense occurred on the Charles City Road, near Fort Lee. The arrest was made by Sheriff W. Webb Snyder and Chief of Police T. Wilson Seay, who found Burnette in the car after it had been ditched. He paid the fine.
